

Graph of commanded altitude (red) vs baro altitude (green). Actual altitude lags commanded altitude by 15+ seconds. Why? And on both climbs and descents.

Adding AETR.Throttle to the graph, you can see some use of throttle

Is straight gray plane from corner WP to landing point the calculated glide slope?